

TO AGREE ON PASSAGE OF BILLS

Joint Caucus of Democratic Members of Legislature Was Held Last Night

GOV. HARMON PRESENT

Given Vote of Confidence After Pleading for Passage of Party Pledges.

Columbus, April 27.—At the request of Governor Harmon a caucus of Democratic members of the senate and house was held last night in the ball of the house to agree upon the speedy passage of certain bills now before the assembly.

Governor Harmon made an earnest speech at the caucus, urging the passage of certain progressive measures.

By a rising vote the caucus declared for the passage of these bills. But the effectiveness of the declaration was spoiled by the admitted understanding before the vote was taken that members of the caucus reserved the right to oppose provisions of these bills which they did not approve and even not to vote for the entire program; also by the expressed declaration of obstructionist senators and two members of the house that they would not budge from their opposition to certain of the bills.

Senators Dore, Huffman and Cetone, who placed themselves in opposition to part of the program, hold the balance of power in the senate, and Governor Harmon, by summoning a party caucus and appealing to senators and representatives as Democrats and for party success to do something, made it idle for him to appeal to Republicans for help.

Dore declared he would not support the bill for nonpartisan nomination of judges, which for the second time was defeated in the senate yesterday, nor would he vote for the Wyman bill for the direct election of United States senators. Huffman announced he would not vote for these bills. He said he would not vote for the Edwards assessment bill unless so amended that it would not create a political machine similar to the Guilbert machine, which the Democrats had announced.

Cetone stood against the Wyman bill, nor would he support the one percent tax rate bill unless changed so that "cities could live under it." And he claimed the right to vote against planks in the party platform if not approved by the people of his district.

Representative Connaughton of Auglaize, denying he had ducked on the Edwards bill vote yesterday, said he would have voted against it unless it had been changed to an elective bill.

Representative Battelfeld of Crawford said he stood with Senator Dore.

Senator Cahill alone of the senate obstructionists promised to vote for all bills in accord with the party platform.

On the vote Senator Huffman did not rise and Senator Cetone, who happened to be standing, moved over toward the side wall, as if not desiring to be counted.

On the vote of confidence in Governor Harmon several of these senators did not arise, but when the negative was put no one announced himself in opposition. As the party demonstration was intended to bring the obstructing influences in the upper branch into line, there was a general doubt as to what had been accomplished.

First and foremost, though, there is no question that the governor made it clear that he expected the Democratic majority to support not only the platform measures, but also the bills that he said were demanded by the people of the state as supplementary to those pledges, among them the state board of control bill.

The overwhelming vote of confidence given him indicates that the great majority of the members of his party are with him. The question now plainly awaiting answer is whether the small, but highly effective, minority will yield and permit the enactment of the legislation for which he more than asked, for last night's speech, no matter how diplomatically put is a demand pure and simple.

Despite the stand of enough senators to prevent action on some of the Harmon bills, the governor declared his belief that something had been accomplished by the caucus which he had been spurred to ask to have called by the defeat of the Edwards tax assessment bill in the house yesterday. This convinced him that a party crisis had been reached.

He urged the Democrats to sink personal differences and to pass, and pass promptly, "the trinity of measures."

Senator Krause's bill is aimed, he says, to do away with the eternal system of excluding saloons from residential districts under the Jones law.

The new bill prohibits the petition system in which saloons were automatically excluded from given districts after 51 percent of the voters had signed a petition, and substitutes the election in which precinct lines are to be preserved.

The election is to be held upon presentation of a petition of 10 percent of qualified electors, and elections may not be held more frequently than every two years. Any block in which more than 65 percent of the frontage is used for business purposes is exempted from the operation of the bill.

Although Senator Krause says the bill is not in the interest of either faction in the temperance fight, the bill is one which will receive the support of the wet vote.

Senator Doster's bill tends toward the "dry" side. It adds "family reunions" to the list of public gatherings within four miles of which liquor may not be sold. The old list included only religious gatherings, patriotic meetings and reunions of old soldiers.

"We have reached the point of the session when we have got to see that the honor of the party is upheld. I beg of you, gentlemen, to overlook personal differences."

CONGRESSMAN ASHROOK WILL OPPOSE FREE WOOL

Washington, April 27.—Petitions to Congress against any reduction in the tariff on raw wool are beginning to reach many Democratic members of the house in advance of the revision of the woolen schedule of the Payne-Aldrich bill to be taken up in the ways and means committee next week.

Representative Ashbrook, Democrat of Ohio, filed a petition yesterday against interference with raw wool, signed by 46 Democrats and 17 Republicans of Johnstown, O. Similar protests have been filed from other sections of the country.

MONEY RECOVERED THROUGH A YOUNG LAD'S HONESTY

Monday, while on his way to school, Ray Baker, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker, found a pocket-book on Mahalon street, which contained $4. The boy took the book to school and turned it over to his teacher, Miss Eichorn, who, upon examination, found it was the property of Mr. Charles Graef, the well known Terre Haute beer agent. She returned it to Mr. Graef, who promptly rewarded the boy for his honesty. Roy is very proud of the fact that he found the book and was able to return it to its owner.

BERGER WOULD ABOLISH UNITED STATES SENATE

Washington, April 27.—A sensational proposal of the United States senate was contained in a resolution introduced in the house today by Representative Berger, Socialist of Wisconsin, demanding a constitutional amendment abolishing the upper house. The resolution declares:

"The senate has begun an obstructive policy and is a useless body and a menace to the liberties of the people. A body, many members of which are the representatives solely of several corporations and a body which by reason of corruption often attending the election of its members, has furnished the greatest scandal in the history of the nation."

Berger proposed that the present duties of the senate be lodged with the house and a referendum provision enacted providing for the reference of any law to the people upon petition of 5 percent of the voters of three quarters of the state.

AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM FORMER CITIZEN OF BOYNE tells of Land in Alberta That is Growing in Price, 10,000 Acre Farms.

The following letter was written by Mr. H. Geddie, a former resident of Boyne, to his brother, Mrs. W. A. Murray whose home is a few miles out of Boyne. Mr. Geddie resided here for five years or more and will be remembered by many Boysne citizens.

Calgary, Alberta,
Dear Mother: This is Saturday, a nice day so I will tell you a few words about what we are still living in we don't write so often.

It is now early summer so I am going to the mountains. I will leave for there about the first of April. Every one seems to think that this will be a good year. I hope so. Least as far as help out of it. I have a suit ready for cross country snowshoes. I will think that and will be worth the money so far as it is going to get the place there seems to be quite a few people venturing. Yesterday there was 10 men camped in a spot where all of them were men with money who were looking for farms. I dare say they will buy over 100 acres apiece. They don't think anything of that sort as some of them buy as high as 10,000 acres. Land that was selling at $10 to $12 per acre a short time ago now brings $12 to $20, or almost double in 18 months.

A few days ago a place with no buildings on it, size 20'x120' feet, sold for $1,000. The same lot five years ago could have been bought for $100. They will build a theatre on it. I hope it will keep going up. They can have mine—there are other places will do as well.

"Wish I had some of your 2-cent porators. We pay $1.40 for them but will have our own another year. Wish you folks could come and see this country. It would do you good."

"Good bye,

FAST BUNCH FROM NEWARK PLAYS RINGS AROUND THE PORTSMOUTH CHAMPIONS

Won Opening Game at Ohio River Town Before 1,800
Howling, Rooting Fans—Mr. Paltzer From Texas
Delivered the Goods, While Herold Starred at the Bat—Team Plays Two More and Goes to Lancaster for Three Games.

(By F. W. Sheridan)

It was an unusual sight to see the Newark team start the season with a victory over the Portsmouth Champs, at Mill Creek Park, Wednesday afternoon. It was a decided success, looked upon as the first of a long series of wins in the west end of the city. The game was a thriller, with the visitors leading until the eighth inning, when the home team came from behind and won the game.

It was a splendid howl at the bat, the crowd cheering like mad, and the fans were shouting and cheering for the home team. The Champs of course will compete favorably with the aggregation that won.

The Reds won in style, however, and started off. That's telling a truth right now. They hit timely, last-won, fast-pitch, kept up a fine defense and had in their pitcher, Mr. Paltzer, of Texas, a fellow who seemed to know what his job was and followed instructions to the letter. Mr. Paltzer by the way, is pretty well up in the world. He puts a fellow in mind of a sea gull fish line. He is tall, slender, but my father he said, "Were he to wear loops he would present a more shapely appearance, but it might impede his progress, and the good Lord knows he is slow enough as it is." It required two and one-half hours to play that game and Mr. Paltzer consumed three-fourths of the time. He goes about his work with a consummate skill that is really admirable, but the home fans who were present were disgusted with the way he moved around in that box. But he did not move very much, but hitched up his long-legged pants and then snatched serenely upon the four mounds in the grand stand. When it comes his time to die, it's a good bet that he will keep the grim reaper in hot water for some time. But hand it to him on the ability stuff. He is there in more ways than one and will prove a power of strength to the Mauling Mohawks.

On the other hand, Frank Hartner, the Shaker State phenom, got his. Hartner wasn't primed for the occasion and when the visitors did hit him, they saw to it that they did so in clusters. Hartner was found for eight hits, one of which was a double from the bat of that pestiferous Herold. We think pretty well of that name at the Times office, anyway, and it was beatifying that Mr. Herold lead his team at the bat. Three out of four is some clouting, by the way. Herold was responsible for practically every run scored by Newark. He drove in two of them and scored himself. He was the big noise outside of Mr. Paltzer—just the finishing touch—an amateur makes a follow foot like he had the humpback.

Cowell and Cullis found Paltzer for two hits each, the former connecting for a triple in the first inning and scoring when Jones singled to second. That's the extent of Portsmouth's run-making. They attempted several times thereafter, but try as they did, that bird in the box kept him from getting the plate. Some of those times Paltzer will be himself in a knot and then wade out for some dry works.

As stated previously, Hartner was not at his best. His arm was sore and he had unusually poor control of the ball, only one of Newark's runs was earned. The errors of the locals were costly and simply proved that the team is not in shape. Wait a few days and then watch that squad.

Newark scored two in the fourth.

Brown singled to left, taking an extra base when his hit played neck-and-neck with Hammond's well-formed single. Hartner hit a double to center. The tandem hit a single, or if it were Randolph Adcock, it would be a double, but the ground ball followed when Herold's single skipped to middle and the toss home known and Foster registered. An old Jones had to give credit for a run when it was not in fact at all. His shock should have been off. In the sixth, Hartner hit a single, and Phillips' pillar at a full drag, and took a wild lead. In the seventh Hartner singled, but the ground ball followed when Herold's single skipped to middle and the toss home known and Foster registered. An old Jones had to give credit for a run when it was not in fact at all. His shock should have been off. IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

Miss Ann Davis entertained the members of the Wednesday afternoon Sewing club and two guests on the club day of this week at her home in Hudson avenue. The hours were pleasantly whiled away with the needles. Dainty refreshments were served. The guests were Miss Edna Wise and Miss Cathryn Vance.

Mrs. Sol Hirschberg entertained with a delightful children's party on Wednesday afternoon honoring the fifth birthday anniversary of her little daughter, Dorothy Louise. Twelve little playmates spent the afternoon with her devoting the time to games and at four o'clock a supper was served in the dining room.

The table decorations were in pink and white, the centerpiece being formed by a candelabra bearing pink tapers and shades and the flowers were pink sweet peas. Dainty favors were given each little guest. Miss Dorothy received many beautiful gifts from her friends.

As Wednesday was the birthday anniversary of Little Miss Dorothy it was also the birthday anniversary of her grandfather. Mr. L. Hirschberg and in the evening Mrs. Sol Hirschberg entertained a number of guests at a six o'clock dinner, the honor guest being Miss Newman of New York, a sister of Mrs. A. Schiff of Hudson avenue. Among the guests were Miss Weinberg of asenies and Mrs. Hirschberg's mother, Mrs. A. Wolfe of Pittsburgh.

Some Women We Ought to Know

Anna Hinderer and All Missionary Pioneers.

THE world always needs pioneers, and missionary pioneers in the largest sense of the word. For when there are no more foreign lands and peoples to whom light needs to be carried, there are realms of thought and movements for the advancement of peoples right about us, in which pioneers are needed. So it is therefore most fitting that among the windows in the Cathedral at Liverpool to notable women is one to Anna Hinderer and all missionary pioneers.

Anna Hinderer, whose maiden name was Anna Martin, was born in 1827 at Hemphill, in Norfolk. Even as a child her desires ran to the things of religion. Missionary work in particular appealed to her, and her ambition was to be a missionary. She met David Hinderer, a member of a band of German evangelists. He had been ordained by the Bishop of Canterbury for missionary work in connection with the Church of England. Their mutual interest in this field of labor brought about a friendship which soon ripened into love. They were married in October, 1852, and in six months were on their way to the West Coast of Africa.

Anna Hinderer had not mistaken her vocation. Few do, when to do a certain work is the consuming desire of their life. She had the magnetism, the personality, whatever it is called, that wins hearts. She soon became known as Iya (mother) by the people among whom she worked, and this name clung to her all through her missionary career.

Her work was the hardest kind of pioneer work, for her husband was the first white teacher to visit Ibadan in the Yoruba district. To sit comfortably at home and comprehend the problems this woman faced is almost an impossibility. But face them she did, cheerfully and successfully, and wonderful results followed her labors.

After seventeen years' work, she fell a prey to the fever of this coast and passed away at the age of 43.

But to these savage people whose comprehension of life was so limited, she brought more abundant life. She opened to them the meaning of life, its beauty, its immutability. Surely this is a work worth while.

All who do this work are missionaries, whether they go to the West Coast of Africa, or whether they bring enlightenment to those immediately about them. And enlightenment and uplift are needed in many other realms than the purely religious. Life is lived in many phases, and any effort to open up life for those about us, to make it more beautiful or happier, is worth our endeavors. And if the way seems beset with difficulties, the life of Anna Hinderer should be an encouragement and an inspiration. The way was opened to do the work she wanted to do, and the way does open usually for those with an earnest purpose. And when it was opened, she used to the full the opportunities that were hers. And the result was a great and useful success. And all who earnestly desire, who seize and use opportunities as they come, will, like Anna Hinderer, be able to carry out their heart's desire.

A Poor Weak Woman

As she is termed, will endure bravely and patiently agonies which a strong man would give way under. The fact is women are more patient than they ought to be under such troubles.

"BUTLER'S LOAF IS FULL POUND;" ASK FOR THIS

I wish to let the Newark public know that as far as I am concerned my baking is not dictated by, or controlled by the interests that have for the past six months been talking in print about an alleged "patent process."

I bake my bread, and have been for the past forty years, from the potato yeast which produces an article of food either from rye or wheat grain, that cannot be excelled for quality and preservative excellence.

Besides quality, when you buy my bread, you are getting a 16-ounce loaf and not short weight, containing 14 ounces or less, that is being sold by bakers for a full pound. A clientele of well satisfied customers is my best advertisement, but in this card I would like to impress upon the minds of all consumers that when they patronize me they get not only the best quality, but also an honest quantity.

Call for "Butler's Pound Loaf" and if your grocer does not sell it, call 933, new phone, and it will be delivered to your address without extra charge. WM. BUTLER.

Recipes for April 28, 1912.

Fish Pudding Made With Rice. Boil one cupful of rice for ten minutes in plenty of salted boiling water. Drain. Take one pound of fish, wipe and saute in hot butter. The fish should be fried golden brown, but only cooked sufficiently to allow of its being broken into flakes. Peel and chop one small onion and saute in the same pan. Grease a mold and fill with layers of the rice, fish and onion, highly seasoned with salt and pepper—the first and last layers being rice. Steam for 45 minutes and serve with any appropriate fish sauce.

Omelet Souffle. Separate the whites and yolks of six eggs, putting three yolks aside. Beat the three remaining yolks with three teaspoonsfuls of powdered sugar until thick and light. Whip the eggs to a stiff froth, pour over them the yolks and mix with a few strokes of the beater, sprinkling in either a teaspoonful of vanilla or a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Heap on a flat serving dish, dust thickly with powdered sugar and place in a very hot oven just long enough for the souffle to swell, crust on top and lightly color—from six to eight minutes. Serve instantly, as it quickly falls.

RAMEY MANUFACTURING CO.

Receives Large Order for Their U. S. Standard Vacuum Cleaners.

The Ramey Mfg. Co. of 42-44 Franklin street, received a fine large order of 100 of their famous little U. S. Standard Vacuum Cleaners from the F. C. Wickwire company, a band of hustling travelling salesmen that know a good thing when they see it. This is the largest order the above company has ever received, cash with order, and only goes to show that intelligence and perseverance are bound to win out. It is an established fact that the U. S. Vacuum Cleaner is the most practical device for carpet cleaning that human genius has ever yet invented and is surely a boon to the housekeeper as it saves her at least one-half of her labor in keeping her house clean. Other cities besides Newark are finding this little machine out, as the following clipping from the Springfield Sun indicates: "In the recent contests here with band power vacuum cleaners Mr. E. J. Ramey, representing the Ramey Mfg. Co., of Newark, O., has carried off all the honors with their machine, known as the U. S. Standard Vacuum Cleaner. This little machine is surely a dirt eater."—Springfield Sun, Springfield, O., Feb. 8, 1911.

TO BOOST HARMON

Senator Pomerene has named two committees of Ohio Democratic Congressmen to promote the interests of Governor Harmon for the Presidency.

One committee will be charged with the duty of drafting an address to the country setting forth Governor Harmon's qualifications for the presidency. This committee is made up of Representatives Denver, chairman; Sherwood, Ashbrook, Anderson, Francis, Claypool, Post and White, all of Ohio.

A second committee also composed exclusively of Ohio members was entrusted with the work of devising plans for the political campaign work leading up to the Democratic national convention. This committee is made up of Representatives Cox, chairman; Sharp, Ambserry, Whittacre, Cooke, Babrick, Aiken and Bulkeley. A formal announcement of the Harmon candidacy will be issued soon by the organization perfected by Senator Pomerene.

ISAAC H. DE BOW DIED THURSDAY MORNING AT 3 A. M.

Well Known Granville Man Succumbs to Cancerous Trouble on Neck After Several Months Illness.

Granville, O., April 27.—Many persons throughout Licking and adjacent counties will learn with deep regret of the death of the genial Isaac H. DeBow, which occurred at his home in Granville about three o'clock Thursday morning, after an illness of some months, due to a cancerous growth on his neck, which was the cause of his death.

Isaac H. DeBow was a son of Isaac and Elizabeth DeBow, and was born August 26, 1838, near the old Granville furnace, just east of Granville, where his father, Isaac DeBow, was employed as a moulder. His father died on September 30 of the same year, when his mother went to the home of her father in Jersey township.

When Isaac reached the age of six years his mother married Mr. Alanson Devereaux, a prominent farmer of St. Albans township. He received a good common school education and worked on a farm until 1859, when he associated himself in the marble and monument business with his brother, Mr. John DeBow.

In 1862 he enlisted in the civil war in the three months service, and was camped at Camp Chase, Columbus. At the expiration of his term of service he went as a substitute in the Engineering Corps for Henry Williams of Hartford, where he remained until the close of the war. After receiving his discharge he returned to Granville, where he again engaged in the marble business with his brother, remaining in the same up to the time of his death.

About thirty years ago he was married to Miss Sarah McDonald, a daughter of the late Thomas McDonald, a former well known resident of Granville. No children were born of the marriage.

The deceased was a prominent fraternite man, and had been a member of Center Star Lodge, No. 11, F. and A. M., and of Myrtle Lodge, No. 250, I. O. O. F. for forty-six years, having become a member of both in 1865. He was a member of Warren Chapter, No. 6, R. and S. M. He was also a prominent member of Lemert Post No. 71, G. A. R. of Newark, and always took a great deal of interest in the workings of the post.

"Colonel" DeBow had always been in robust health up to within the past year. Some months ago a small growth appeared on his neck which rapidly developed into a malignant cancerous growth, but notwithstanding the fact that all that was possible was done he gradually grew worse until Thursday morning when he breathed his last. During all his sickness he ever retained the same cheerful disposition. Indeed, all through his life he had been an optimist, having an unusual cheerful disposition; he saw only the good in this world. He had an unusually bright mind and a good memory so that he was able to quote with the mind of a scholar, poetry and classics. He was a man who was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him, and many will remember his happy greeting with a smile and cheerful word which always made a good impression. He will be greatly missed in the community in which he has so long a time has made his home, and his widow will have the sincerest sympathy of all in her great bereavement.

The funeral will be held at the Methodist church on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and will be under the auspices of Center Star Lodge, No. 11, F. & A. M., of which he had been a member for many years. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Frank Evans, pastor of the church, and the interment will be made in Maple Grove cemetery.

BAD HEADACHES QUICKLY DISAPPEAR

Mrs. Chas. Hartley, 516 Franklin St., Jackson, Mich., says: "I had suffered all kinds of pain and agony from stomach complaint for several months. The pains in my stomach were very bad, the gas forced the food up into my throat, my food did not digest, headaches of the worst kind attended. I became weak, nervous and in a condition so I could not sleep.

Was alarmed at my condition, as doctoring did not benefit me, finally I was induced to try MI-O-NA, and after using for about two weeks, I found a cure."

If you have a sallow complexion, pimples, blotches or dull eyes, your digestion's all wrong, and you should take MI-O-NA stomach tablets immediately and put your stomach right.

MI-O-NA instantly stops belching of gas, sour stomach, heartburn and foul breath and gives complete relief in five minutes.

MI-O-NA is guaranteed to cure dyspepsia, sea sickness, vomiting of pregnancy, or money back.

Don't hesitate to try MI-O-NA. It is for sale by Evans' drug store and leading druggists everywhere at 50 cents a large box.

Several officers went down and arrested the crazy man, a Negro, a Negro named Tammie, who has been in the Children's Home for a number of years.

He was brought to the city prison and some inspection will be made of the case, which is a very sad one. His name is Mr. Head, negro.

POSTUM

"There's a Reason"

Before Allowing an Operation

Please Read These Two Letters.

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before. It is after all that suffering Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored her health.

HERE IS HER OWN STATEMENT.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement—I could not stand on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief, and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. To-day I am well and strong and do all my own house-work. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. Orville Rock, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Mich.

"There never was a worse case." Rockport, Ind.—"There never was a worse case of woman's ills than mine, and I cannot begin to tell you what I suffered. For over two years I was not able to do anything. I was in bed for a month and the doctor said nothing but an operation would cure me. My father suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so I pleased him I took it, and I improved wonderfully, so I am able to travel, ride horseback, take long rides and never feel any ill effects from it. I can only ask other suffering women to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation."—Mrs. Margaret Meredith, R. F. D. No. 3, Rockport, Ind.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsoiled.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge.

Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

J. C. AYER & CO.
NEWARK, N. J.Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Black Mark On the BeanTHE STRAW, THE COAL AND THE BEAN

"YOUNGSTERS," asked daddy one evening, "do you know why beans have black marks upon them?"

"I've noticed the mark, but I don't know any reason for it," said Evelyn.

"Well, here is the reason," said daddy. "Once upon a time there was a poor old woman who had picked a mess of beans for her dinner. The old woman built a big fire to cook her beans and threw a handful of straw upon the fire to make it burn more quickly. Just as she was pouring the beans into the pot one of them slipped out and fell to the floor.

"About the same time one of the straws blew away from the fire and landed on the floor near the bean, and one of the hot coals also fell from the fire. The straw said:

"My, what a narrow escape from being burnt I have had! And the coal answered: 'Yes, I have had a close shave too. In a few minutes more there would have been nothing left of me.'

"And the bean said: 'My friends, I have had the narrowest escape of all of us. If I had once got into the pot with that hot water nothing could have saved me from being cooked alive. As we three have been so lucky, all about the same time, suppose we stick together! Let's travel out into the world to see what adventures we shall meet. If we do no good to lie here, for if the old woman sees us she will surely cook me with the other beans and burn you two.'

"The straw and the coal were willing, and the three set out. After traveling for a time and meeting with some strange adventures they came to a brook. There was no bridge. 'How in the world shall we get across?' said the bean.

"I know how," answered the straw. "I shall stretch myself across the brook, and you two shall cross over on my back. When you are across you can then help me over. Let the coal go first."

"Well, the straw stretched itself across the brook, and the coal started to cross. But he was still hot from the fire, and when he was half way over the straw could bear him no longer, but burnt in two. Of course the coal fell into the water, and the two halves of the straw also fell in, and so the coal and the straw were drowned.

"This amused the bean. She laughed so loud and long that she burst. She would have died also, save for the fact that a tailor who was passing by saw her and took pity on her. He sewed her up, but he used black thread, so from that day to this beans have black marks on them."

The effect of impure and pure blood is seen at once on the face.

Impurities fill it with poisons, the flesh harbors these poisons, and the lungs cannot eliminate them as they should.

It needs a purifier. Stuart's Calcium Wafers give to the blood, through the same channels as food, all the strength and stimulus necessary to remove the impurities and to make rich corpuscles which will feed the body or fight its enemies.

Time was when poor blood purifiers had to be used, such as herbs and roots powdered minerals, etc., but thanks to latter day achievement the Stuart process gives to the system the full rich strength of Calcium Sulphide, the greatest blood purifier known to science.

These little powerful wafers are prepared by one of the most noted expert pharmaceutical chemists in the world and so far as science is concerned no expense has been spared to make them perfect.

They contain Quassia, Golden Seal and Eucalyptus, each a most powerful aid to the blood of man.

Thousands of people use these wafers with religious zeal, and

An Unfortunate Situation

By JOHN TURNLEE

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

The only definite feature respecting my attentions to Phoebe Constant was that they were unwelcome to her father. Mothers are less apt to take definite ground with regard to their daughters, especially men friends, and the only opposition to my being devoted to Phoebe came from her father. Mind you, I was not engaged to her. I was not sure that I wished to be engaged to her, and she had not indicated that she wished to be engaged to me. This matter of love is usually considered as something that comes suddenly, turning a couple from indifference to a wild passion for each other. I admit that there are many such cases, but mine was not one of that kind.

One day Phoebe wrote me a note suggesting that if I had nothing special on hand for the evening I'd better come to see her. I did so and found that her father had gone on business to a neighboring town and would not be at home before 11 o'clock. If there is anything needed to bring about a love affair it is something clandestine. The fact that Phoebe had sent for me to be with her while her father would know nothing about it inspired me with a more tender feeling for her. Indeed, it opened the bud of love. For the first time in my life I put some warmth into my words and bearing toward her and received a corresponding response. When I left her I felt that we had made a beginning in a new relationship.

Mr. Constant kept a large dog on his premises which was unchained every night at 10 o'clock. Not wishing to make my presence during Mr. Constant's absence especially known among the servants, I did not suggest any delay in unchaining the dog, intending to leave just before 10 o'clock. At five minutes before 10 I said good night to Phoebe—no kiss; I hadn't got that far, only a pressure of the hand—and started down the walk leading to the gate. I hadn't gone more than half way before I saw a black mass moving in another part of the yard and knew it for the dog. I was about ten steps from tree, which I reached in five long ones and, making the jump of my life, caught a branch and drew myself up to a safe place.

Either my watch was wrong or the dog had been let out ahead of time. It did not matter which was the case. I was a prisoner in a tree near a walk along which Mr. Constant would pass when he came home. If the dog had barked Phoebe would have heard him and suspected that I was in trouble. But he did not utter a single growl. I saw no way to attract the attention of any one in the house, and, as to coming down into the jaws of the fierce brute below me, it was not to be considered. When he found he couldn't reach me he simply lay down and waited.

My position was unpleasant in more respects than one. That first sweet passion of love which had entered by blood I found delicious. I knew that a young woman about to enter upon a love affair is very sensitive to any noble or ignoble attitude the man in the case may occupy. I dreaded to be caught by her father upon a tree like a thief, guarded by a watchdog. It was a contemptible position for me and would place Phoebe in an undesirable attitude with regard to her father, indicating that she had received me clandestinely during his absence.

If I could only think of some ingenious way to escape the dog or, better yet, some daring stroke to overcome him I might not only avoid losing prestige, but gain it. I looked about me for a means of escape. The trees were very thick, but toward the gate not thick enough to admit of my passing from one to the other and out of the grounds. Toward the house the prospect looked more favorable. I determined to try it. Better be caught like a burglar than a sneak thief.

By climbing from branch to branch and making some desperate leaps, the dog following me, I finally gained the roof of the house. When I got there I couldn't get back, for the limb from which I dropped, relieved of my weight, sprang upward beyond my reach. I found myself in a sort of roof pocket directly in front of a window.

It seemed to me that I had not improved the situation. I had got rid of the dog, but had been cornered on the roof. In any event I must stay where I was till relieved by human help. I heard a train come in at the station half a mile away, and in about twenty minutes Mr. Constant came in at the gate and spoke to the dog. I rejoiced that dogs can't talk and this one couldn't give me away. Then the front door closed, and the next development was a bright light in the window before which I was standing and from which I could not move. And what was my horror to see Mr. Constant beginning to dissolve.

He advanced at once to draw down the shade and, seeing a man on the narrow ledge of the roof outside the window, was about to turn for some weapon for defense when, placing my face against a pane, I implored him by my expression to desist. The light shone on my features, and he recognized me.

That was the end of my attentions to Phoebe Constant. She never quite satisfied her father but that there was some mystery about the matter greatly to my discredit, and she could never again think of me as a lover.

'Time's Flight Turned Backward' SAGE AND SULPHUR Made Her Look Twenty Years Younger

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

STATE OF NEW YORK
COUNTY OF MONROE

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a girl, I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair which was the envy of my schoolmates, and which attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. As I grew older, my hair commenced to come out, just a little at first, but gradually more and more, and then began to turn gray. I was induced by the many good reports I had heard of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy to try a bottle. My hair was quite thin and gray when I began using Sage and Sulphur, and you can imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, becoming thicker, darker and more glossy than it had been for a long time. I continued to use Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is now as heavy, dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is still in splendid condition.

Sworn to before me this 1st day of July, 1902.

ALDRICH SORRY PARTY IS SPLIT

Says He Wishes President Had Solid Backing.

6. O. P. ON THE DEFENSIVE

SENATOR PENROSE SAYS SENATE WILL TAKE ITS TIME CONSIDERING CANADIAN ARBITRATION — DIFFICULTY OF SEEING POSTMASTER GENERAL HITCHCOCK IS STANDING WASHINGTON JOKE.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, April 27.—See if I can make Senator Aldrich regret the position he has taken in the Republican ranks ever since his arrival. "I am sorry to see it remarked," "I would have preferred to have had the bill put through by Republican votes so that there would have been a solid party behind the President." If the bill does the damage to the farmers which is predicted it can very easily be repudiated or amended. It is not to be the law for all time. When the Republicans return to power in both branches of Congress they can amend it if necessary.

Mr. Aldrich says that his work on the money committee is the most important of his career. He is giving considerable attention to the subject now and hopes to be able to present a comprehensive plan for the regular session of Congress in December.

Meanwhile there is liable to be attacks on all kinds of committees and especially the committee of which the Rhode Island senator is chairman. Several senators have laid plans with that object in view.

"On the Defensive."

Even the most lenient administration men in the Senate are not very well satisfied with the extra session. "We are on the defensive in this trifling matter," remarked Senator Penrose, who is to be chairman of the finance committee, "and we are in no hurry." He was speaking particularly of the organization of the committee as such organization delayed all other business.

The Republicans seem to be perfectly willing to take all the time they want, especially those opposed to the Canadian agreement as they believe opposition to the measure is growing.

Trying to See Hitchcock.

It is a standing joke in Washington that no one can ever see Hitchcock, the postmaster general. In fact, if sometimes said to be a great mystery as to where he is hidden. During the last session of Congress Weeks of Massachusetts mentioned to Burke of South Dakota that Hitchcock was one of his constituents.

"He is, is he?" answered Burke. "Now, Weeks, I'll make bet of a dinner with you. Hitchcock is one of your constituents; you are chairman of the committee on postoffices and that ought to help you get a hearing. Now you and I will start out from the capitol together in separate cars, go to the postoffice department to see Hitchcock. I will go and see all the other eight cabinet officers and drop in at the White House for a little chat with the president, and I'll let you that I will get back before you do."

The bet was not made. "I would have won," said Burke afterward. "I would have taken Weeks all that time to find Hitchcock and as much longer to get in after he had found him."

Another Washington Pastime. "Made war on the fly" is the cry in Washington now, and it affords a new pastime for the people of the capital. It will be kept up for many years, for Washington soldiers drop anything when it once gets started after it. I say "safer" for there are so many things which Washington is still surpassing that the city is in the "safer" class.

The "swat the fly" movement will soon take its place with the following old-time fads: changing the date of the Thanksgiving holiday a bit which will now immediately the inaugural ball, turning snow off the sidewalk, increasing the number of government clerks making it the most beautiful day in the year; changing the name of Sixteenth street to something more certain, carrying out the park commission plan, making Pennsylvania Avenue a really grand boulevard.

Hats Off to Senator Lodge.

When another Mass. delegation came to the day of Senator Lodge's departure from the country for the 10th of April, it was a quiet affair. Thus it happened that Mr. Morgan, now secretary of the Senate, was on some official business and had to leave two weeks earlier than the date set for the annual meeting of the Senate. Thus all good-byes were said and the day known his last.

At this point it may be suggested that Mr. Lodge could have abandoned to New England, where he had been a successful producer in the last few years, and found one of the good ports. But probably Lodge was in the way of Senator Crane. The former senator must not be overlooked when discussing shrewd New England politicians.

He was in the mountains on the advice of five doctors, who said he had consumption, but found no help in the climate, and started home. Hearing of Dr. King's New Discovery, he began to use it. AT HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

That a genuine treat is in store for those who will be fortunate enough to hear Mr. Charlemagne Koehler is the assurance of those who are in a position to know. Mr. Koehler appears at the High school auditorium on May 4 under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus. That he will delight all who hear him is the opinion of the Somerset Press, which has the following to say:

"Mr. Koehler's readings were far and away beyond criticism, and to describe fully his works were to indulge in a string of superlatives. His 'Lies' alone is worth the price of admission to any theatre in the land. In the soloing, 'To P or Not to Be,' from Hamlet, Mr. Koehler realizes all the best traditions of the unforgettable Booth. As an evidence of his versatility Mr. Koehler did a bit of grotesque comedy work in 'The Village Maiden' and 'The Playful Schoolboy.' Owing to the strenuous and incessant work in rehearsing The Players during the week, Mr. Koehler had suffered and was not at its best, but his wonderful resourcefulness in facial expression and action stood him here in good stead, and though hampered he scored nevertheless, a perfect triumph. Our congratulations and our thanks to Mr. Koehler. Let us have him again and again. We shall never weary of such a consummate artist.—Somerset Press, March 23, 1911.

LAST NIGHT'S PLAY

One's fancy can hardly picture a romance so practically impossible as the one George Barr McCutcheon conceived and gave the name of "Gran-stark," yet this romance undoubtedly makes a picturesque play. "Gran-stark" was presented at the Auditorium Theatre to only a fair sized audience.

The company giving last night's show was probably more evenly balanced than any seen in the same theatre before. While Alfred Swanson is not a particularly handsome man, Lorry Lorley is a hard worker and is very successful in his role. Frederick McQuirk made a pleasing Harry Anguish and Frank Lester made a charming Vertue. In general especially clever in the serious moods of the Princess.

Atkins Lawrence has been seen here before as Baron Dangloos, and his efforts leave nothing more to be desired in the brusque but kindly old minister of police. The play was fairly well staged and costumed, and made a pleasing entertainment.

THE TIME THE PLACE AND THE GIRL

It doesn't take much power of deduction to figure out that if it costs several thousand dollars to produce an ordinary musical comedy, it must cost a small fortune to launch an extraordinary mixture. It's all extraordinary scenery, electrical effects, costumes, cast and chorus. It is the object of the mass of the country to see the theatre-going public just where is good and bad in the theatrical world. Read the splendid reviews which have been written at the greatest of all musical comedies, "The Time, The Place, and The Girl." It's true, every word of it. This attraction will be on view at the Auditorium theatre, Saturday matinee and night, April 29.

At the rise of the curtain there is a soft and dainty blending of color, music that is ravishing sweet and a vision of young and beautiful femininity gowned about the stage in picturesquely attitudes. Then the comedians come and make you laugh with their funny sayings and doings. Then there will be dancing numbers rendered with a brightness that makes the pulse irresistibly quicker.

Then follows more girls, and the very air seems full of a swirling, gayizing chaos of color in spires. It's "The Time, The Place and The Girl" with its popular songs of the whistling sally, its cast of principals with a world-wide reputation, its large and efficient chorus, and its beautiful electric and scenic effects. It's an F. A. Wade production and it comes to the Auditorium theatre, Saturday matinee and night, April 29.

AL H. (METZ) WILSON

When Al H. Wilson, the German dialect comedian, comes to the Auditorium on Monday, May 1st, he will be seen in his familiar German character of "Metz," but the scenes of his new play this season, which is entitled "A German Prince" places our globe-trotting friend in the land of his forefathers, where he will cheer his German friends and humor with that array of Americans who is piloting through the Austrian Tevel. The story is interesting and the dialogue bright and snappy, with bows and these a clever bon-mot intermingled with delightful complications and laughable远 farbys. In its construction the author has proven that songs can be woven into a play without seeming extraneous. A number of new songs, including the already famous "My Queen of Dreams" and "Sally as the Night" are introduced ingeniously but naturally.

RIDING ACTS ALL NEW.
The equestrian features of the Forough and Sclis circus are this year one of its chief charms. They are presented by a company of all-new European riders. Something entirely new to the equestrian art in America is assured. France, Spain,

Germany, England and Russia have contributed their foremost talent to this great circus.

When the big circus comes to Newark, on Tuesday, May 1, it will occasion no end of surprise because of the wonderful growth it has attained since its last appearance seven years ago in this part of the country. It now travels on a train which is divided into four sections. In reorganizing for this season's triumphant tour the management expended $3,200,000 enough money to purchase any three other shows in America. The menagerie alone, composed of entirely new specimens of strange wild animals, cost one-third of this sum.

The parade, which begins the day's celebration, is three miles in length.

A holiday of perfect enjoyment is in store for the people of Newark, and the surrounding country.
